

*I/V Jennifer Haley 10-09-09 Surak #5742,

On 10/09/09 at the Angel Valley Retreat, I interviewed Jennifer Haley. Haley stated that she was a member of the "dream team" and arrived on 10/01/09. Haley stated that being part of the "dream team", they assist in taking the participants out on their "vision quests" and bringing them back. Haley also stated that she was one of the members of the "dream team" outside of the "sweat lodge" that was hosing people down with cold water as they came out and giving them water and electrolytes. I asked why she was not inside the lodge and she stated that she does not like steam rooms to begin with and that it is just "hard core".

I asked her to tell me what she saw as the "sweat lodge" went on. She stated that they have a lot of dedicated people and they will stay in as long as they can. She started noticing that, as time went on, the people that were coming out were coming out in worse shape than the ones that came out early on. Haley stated that toward the end people were not in the right frame of mind and saying weird things.

I asked if she remembered the end. She stated, yes, and that she started CPR on Kirby Brown. I asked if Brown was conscience when she saw her and she stated, no, that she was blue. Haley also sad that she could see other people performing CPR on James Shore and saw that he was blue as well. I asked if she thought something went wrong and she stated that apparently something went wrong. Haley also spoke of the sandalwood that was put on the rocks in the beginning and stated she was not sure if that had anything to with it.

End of interview.
